—Night before last some of the boys caught two "chippies" in the Capitol square and after painting their faces with lamp black and oil sent the naughty things home. If the night watchman catches anything of that kind going on he will report them to their parents.

The Rejected Surveys.

With reference to the rejected mention of which was made in these columns last week, the Reno Journal says: "The Journal understands that Gen. Irish appointed H. B. Maxon, now working out a Government contract in Golconda country, and H. Fitzhugh, of Salt Lake, who has a contract under Gen. Irish in eastern Elko, to examine and report upon these thirteen townships last Fall, and they report that the surveys were carelessly performed. If the work was not properly done the contractors ought not to receive any pay for it. McClellan is at Elko and Bridges is at Los Angeles, he having left Nevada a year ago. McClellan is one of the best surveyors in Nevada and will undoubtedly appeal to the Secretary of the Interior. And as to the first installment the Journal has every reason to believe the work was done and well done. Every effort has been made to have the work examined and the Commissioner will confer a favor if he will detail Maxon and Fitzhugh to examine and report upon it. Officially or privately the writer has no apology to make for his actions in connection with the surveys, the purchase of land from the State or anything else. If he is not entitled to any land he may have applied for from the State, he is willing to withdraw his money and give anybody else a whack at it."

Shooting at Boca.

Tuesday evening at Boca, Cal., Bill Keyes shot and probably fatally injured Jack Printon. They met outside of a saloon and had some words when it is said, Keyes struck Printon in the face with the butt end of his pistol, when they clinched; Keyes then stepped back and fired at Printon, the ball entering about the middle of the chest on a line with the nipple, and plunging through the left lung lodged near the base of the left shoulder. Printon lies in a critical condition, and but slight hopes are entertained of his recovery. Keyes immediately gave himself up and is now in custody. He has lived around Boca for the past sixteen years, and is a G. A. R. man about 50 years of age. His folks are living at Brown's Valley, Yuba county, California. Printon has relatives living at Sierra City, California, and is now a new arrival at Boca. Both are single.

Paralyzing.

The Belmont Courier says: The low price at which silver is selling prevents many mines in Nye county being worked owing to the lowness of the grade of the ore which is contained in them. The continued war on silver is paralyzing the only industry in this State. A silver Congress and an administration favorable to silver would make things boom up in every mining camp in Nevada, and an era of prosperity would set in that would make any croaker that ever crossed the Rocky Mountains smile with contentment. Silver may sell at par before this State is very much older, but we do not think any thanks will be due to the Congress of the United States when it does.

The Earthquake Floods a Mine.

Up to the hour of the earthquake of Saturday night, the water in the Orleans mine at Prescott Hill was easily kept "in fork" with the pump running slowly. Saturday night the pump was run as usual, but when the men went down the shaft Sunday morning it was found that the water had risen and flooded the lower level. Since then the pump has been kept going at full speed and yet the water has not been reduced. The supposition—and no doubt a correct one—is that the earthquake opened a seam in the earth from the shaft to a subterranean reservoir.—Grass Valley Tidings.

Slight Mistake.

Dr. Southworth attempted to sell George Hark a calf the other day. "Better keep it, said Hark, a nice heifer calf is worth keeping." "Heifer the devil, I always supposed it was a bull."

—Thaxter still has a magnificent supply of fresh garden seeds on hand. In this country you can make garden all Summer. Now is the best time to plant seeds.

Lower Once Before.

Very little water is flowing out of Lake Tahoe and the gates of the dam at the outlet are all raised. The water of the lake is lower than ever before but there was a time before the advent of the whites when it was much lower than now. This fact is demonstrated in the following way: There is a large flat rock near the shore of the lake which is now above water, but which no white man can ever remember of having seen dry before. An inspection of the rock, however discloses on its surface several large holes, evidently made by Indians in pounding acorns, and it is probable that years and years ago the Natives used to grind acorns and pine nuts on that rock which must have been above water. Thus the water in Tahoe must at some time in the past have been lower than now.

A Woman Who Can Hold Her Tongue.

Among the attractions at a loan exhibition in Youngstown was a figure, purporting to be of wax, of the Princess Marguerite, of Italy. Much difference of opinion prevailed as to whether the figure was of wax, or flesh and blood and bets aggregating $5,000 were made on the issue. At last an exposure was made, and the figure was found to be a living woman. She is a native of Louisville, Ky., and has been engaged in the business of posing as a wax figure for many years. Her name is Augusta Bendict. She belongs to a prominent Kentucky family.

For oils, salts, pills, and all kinds of nauseous medicines, is the very agreeable liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. Recommended by leading Physicians. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company, San Francisco, Cal. For sale by Geo. C. Thaxter, Agent.

—The County Commissioners of Elko have published a notice that they will pay no more bounties on rabbit scalps. Adjoining counties send in scalps and prey on Elko.

Another illustration of free trade and protection.

If Elko could impose a duty on outside rabbit scalps it could stop this drain on its treasury.

—A singular death occurred last week at Grass Valley, California. Over a year ago an 8-year old son of John Powning swallowed a small nickel-plated whistle, and it remained in his stomach, giving little trouble. Saturday night he was frightened by the earthquake and was seized with a paroxysm of vomiting, which did not cease until death came.

—The papers are all praising Voorhees for his apology to the Senate for calling Ingalls a "har" and "dirty dog" during a session of that body.

Had Voorhees been desirous of doing the right thing he would have apologized not to the Senate but to Ingalls.

—A Chicago editor received a type-written poem which pleased him greatly. The poem was accepted and a letter and check sent to its author, a lady, whom the editor complimented very highly upon her work. The next day the editor's wife presented the check and money for it. She had used a fictitious name.
